MULTIPLEX WEATHER

SPONSOR
MULTIPLEXWEATHER.COM

RETRO WEATHER BROUGHT TO YOU BY YOU

Put your name on the weather screen in the waiting room.

HOW YOUR CARD LOOKS

MultiplexWeather.com is a free, retro-style weather channel that runs in any web browser. Offices put it on a TV, a tablet or a spare monitor in full-screen kiosk mode, and it cycles through current conditions, forecasts, radar and a news ticker all day.

Your "Retro Weather brought to you by..." card takes a turn in that rotation, in the same 1990s cable-weather look as the forecasts around it.

Mockup with a placeholder sponsor. Your real card is built with you and approved by you before it runs.

Brian Roemmele says about 500 offices already run MultiplexWeather.com on their screens.
That is Brian's own stated reach, from his post on X. It is not an audited audience figure.

1 WHERE PEOPLE SEE IT

- Waiting rooms: dentists, doctors, vets, auto service, salons.
- Office lobbies and front counters, where guests check in.
- Break rooms and shared office screens, where staff glance at the weather.
- Any screen with a web browser: smart TV, tablet, computer or TV stick. No special hardware or app.

2 WHAT'S ON YOUR CARD

- "Retro Weather brought to you by" your business name.
- One short line in your words, such as an offer, a hello to the neighborhood, or what you do.
- Your web address, and a QR code to your site if you want one, like the site's own Featured screens.
- Built in the station's retro look so it fits on screen and doesn't feel like an interruption.

3 WHO IT'S FOR

- Local businesses that want to be seen by people waiting nearby: cafés, lunch spots, auto shops, realtors, credit unions, hardware stores.
- Office-supply and office-service companies: paper and printing, coffee and water service, furniture, phones and IT support, cleaning.

4 HOW IT WORKS

- 1. Say hello. Send your business name, your line and your web address.
- 2. See a preview. We build your card in the retro style and send you a picture of it on the weather screen.
- 3. Approve it. Nothing runs until you OK the card and the run dates.
- 4. It runs. Your card takes its turn in the weather rotation for the dates you choose.

Rates on request. We'll talk through run dates and options with you directly.

5 GROUND RULES

- The weather comes first. Your card never covers a forecast, a warning or the radar.
- Sponsor cards are clearly labeled, so viewers can tell them from the weather.
- Family-friendly cards only, since these screens are in public waiting rooms.
- You must own or have the rights to any name, logo or artwork you send.
- MultiplexWeather.com may decline or pull any card at any time. Unused days are refunded.

☀ Sponsor Retro Weather: BrianRoemmele@mail.grokbot.com

THE SITE
MultiplexWeather.com · free, in any browser

FROM
Multiplex.FM · Brian Roemmele

MEMBERS
ReadMultiplex.com